Customized Solutions

The G-Force® system components applicable with every drive capacity and connected by Can-Bus.

Therefore it's easy to change components at site, or the handle for a new type of use. All parameter settings are stored by the controller.

Parameter setting for lifting speed and response is a standard like limiting speed at certain height, or using float mode facilities.

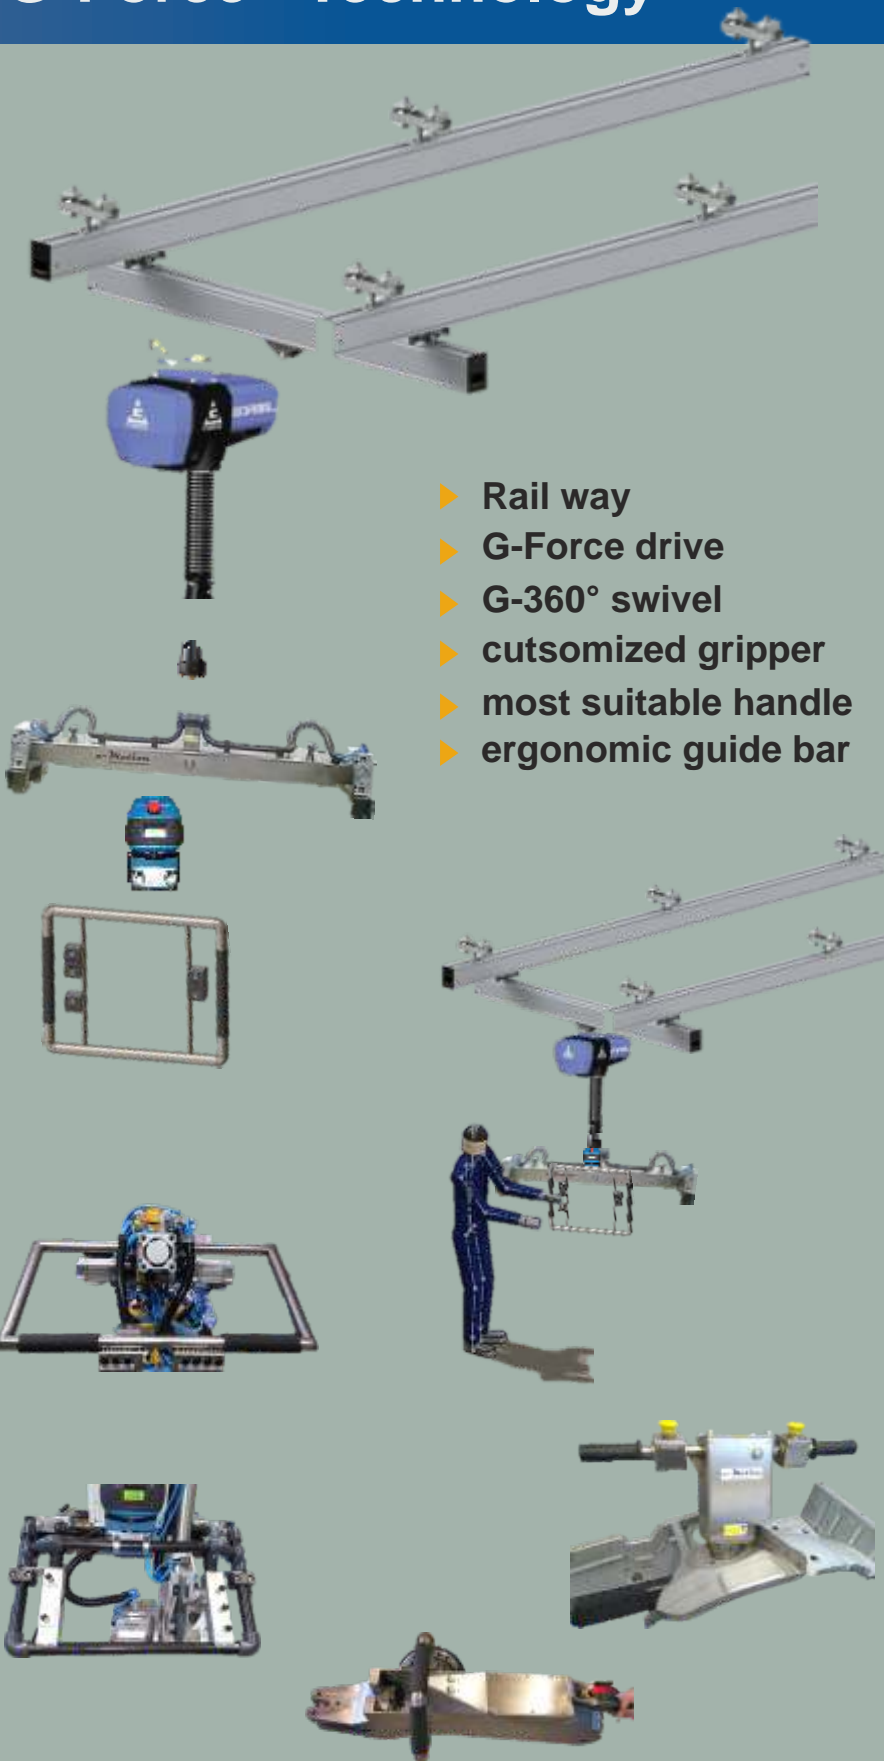

There are many more system components available for all types of handling applications.

Of course there is no allround gripper that matches exactly for all load components. Therefore we provide you as a one-stop supplier and provide gripping units at your specific requirements.
